Key point: dependent supplier ensuring continuity supplies goods control produce own Key point: control quality goods produced own factory

Would have more control over cost
May be more profitable/cheaper to produce and sell own goods

Risk: all manufacturing costs increase proportion production Key point: Currently high proportion purchases finished goods returned

Disadvantages of stopping buying in finished goods
Increase in factory running costs/cost of production
May need to purchase additional machinery

Benefit: able increase factory capacity enough meet demand Benefit: able meet increase demand falls surplus capacity increased inventory

Quality of goods purchased may be inferior
